Electoral divisions (wards) of the Isle of Wight

After a review concluded in 2008 by The Electoral Commission, the number of Isle of Wight electoral divisions – or wards – fell from 48 to 39, with a corresponding reduction in the number of councillors from 48 to 40. Most of the boundaries were redrawn and some were re-named. Each ward elects one representative, with the exception of Brading, St Helens and Bembridge which returns two members to the council due to factors relating to population distribution. The Isle of Wight also has town and parish councils which now cover the whole of the Island.
